

Parachutist comes in for spot landing

Sky divers, stunt pilots thrilling

Air show shortened as poor weather keeps several of the acts grounded

Clouds that hung low throughout most of the weekend cast a shadow over the Stanhope Fly-in and Airshow Sunday afternoon. A number of attractions organizers had lined up were unable to appear because of poor flying conditions that soaked them into their home airports, and only one private plane arrived for the fly-in portion of the weekend. (Last year in perfect weather, more than 115 planes turned up). But though the show had its share of disappointments for organizers, the crowd that flocked to the airport Sunday afternoon found enough thrills and entertainment to make the afternoon worthwhile.

County Warden and Stanhope Reeve Jim Harrison welcomed the hundreds of people who turned up, and expressed appreciation to the airport committee for the work that went into organizing the weekend of activities.

First plane off for the opening of the show was a Polish designed Vilga carrying four sky divers from the parachute school of Toronto. Assembled in Peterborough by Air Tech. Canada Ltd., the Vilga is a short take-off and landing (STOL) aircraft with a climbing ability that is little short of amazing. Barely a few hundred feet from the ground, however, the Vilga was lost in the clouds, and straining necks were the order of the day as the crowd tried to keep track of its progress. The heavy cloud almost aborted the opening of the show, as the jumpers were unable to find a hole that would let them see the ground from the jump altitude of 2,200 feet. It was several minutes before an opening could be found, but master of ceremonies, Tom Young, of Peterborough, kept anticipation high until the moment of the jump. A Canadian flag was unfurled by one of the jumpers, and the national anthem accompanied their descent to the ground to open the show.

A scheduled fly past by Canadian Forces jets had to be cancelled because of poor weather at the forces base in North Bay.

Next up in the shortened program was the radio controlled stunt flying of Bob Stevens and his son Jeff, of Peterborough. The father and son team have been favourites at the airshow since its inception, and they came through with a fine performance of model aerobatics again Sunday afternoon. "Oh's" and "Ah's" rippled through the crowd as the miniature aircraft, with Jeff Stevens at the control panel, raced through intricate "pattern" or stunt manoeuvres at speeds approaching 110 miles an hour. And despite conditions made tricky by long grass and gusty winds, the landing was as perfect as the stunts, and both drew loud applause from the appreciative crowd.

Precision helicopter flying by two military Jet Ranger machines from Val Cartier, Quebec, was next on the program, and it proved an impressive

Channel dredging unlikely this year

One way or another, Dysart et al council will try its best to get the channel cleared up between Grass and Head Lakes.

The shallow channel has long been a headache for boaters, fishermen, and a tour boat that cruises between Lake Kashagawigamog and Haliburton village from Deer Lodge.

But this summer, there may be some relief for boaters through the aid of six students working for the municipality under a Young Canada Works Program. A supervisor will also be enlisted as part of the clean-up project.

The $9900 program will allow the students to remove some of the logs and stumps and other debris caught in the channel and carry out some general work at Rotary Park.

Council discussed the possibility of hiring a scuba diver for a day, who could help connect logs to logs caught on bottom. The waters in the channel are murky, however, and could cause problems for a diver, councillor Gary McKnight pointed out.

"It's pretty muddy in that area of the river," he said. "And they (divers) don't work for nothing."

The program will begin June 18, and council will consider hiring a diver before work begins on the channel.

Another possibility council considered was their request to the federal Ministry of Fisheries and Environment to begin dredging operations in the channel. A letter sent to council Monday noted that a program exists whereby any initial dredging or break-

Kinsmen Home Show begins Friday

The Dysart Community Centre and the Curling and Squash Club buildings are expected to be a hive of activity this weekend as the third annual Haliburton Kinsmen Highland Home and Vacation Show gets underway. The event was a huge success in its first year, and last year upwards of 3000 people attended the three day show to view exhibits arranged by more than 65 county and area merchants. A number of changes and improvements have been incorporated into this year's show, and its chairman Pat Kennedy says the club is hoping for an even bigger turnout of area people to enjoy the attractions of this year's show.

On display will be hardware, lumber products, sports equipment, furniture and appliances, audio and television equipment, log building tools and techniques, plumbing products, tires, antiques, gifts, handicrafts, artwork and a host of other items.

This year's show will see an increased emphasis on home improvement products, and on handicrafts created by local artisans. Along with local businesses and artisans, merchandisers from Toronto, Oshawa, Orillia, Peterborough and a number of other centres have purchased space at the show.

Among the highlights of previous shows have been the numerous free draws offered by exhibitors that have given visitors an opportunity to take home valuable goods and services. More than 70 such draws will be featured this year, along with the biggest draw of the weekend, a Kinsmen sponsored 50/50 draw that may net the winner as much as $1000, according to Pat Kennedy.

A first for this year's show will be a golf analyser, courtesy of Haliburton Highlands Golf Club. Golfers can drive a ball into a catch net under the watchful eye of a television camera, which will record the golfer's actions on video tape. A rerun of the tape in slow motion will give golfers a chance to Jules the Elephant was rather busy last Thursday giving rides and performing his act, as the Martin and Downs circus rolled into Minden. The circus pleased both young and old alike, with entertainment featuring clowns, magic acts, balancing routines, and of course, the man on the flying trapeze. Animals and an oddity show were also popular among children and adults alike.

COLA clause triggered for first time by 9.8 percent inflation

Teachers get cost of living payment

Secondary school teachers in Haliburton County will be paid a cost of living allowance this year, under terms agreed on in their 1978/79 contract.

Payment of additional money tied to the rise in the cost of living has been a clause in the contracts of both secondary and elementary school teachers in Haliburton County for a number of years, but this year marks the first time the clause has been invoked.

According to statistics Canada, the consumer price index rose 9.8 percent between May 1, 1978 and May 1 this year. The cost of living allowance (COLA) clause in the secondary school teachers' contracts has an eight percent "trigger", and the consumer price index rise means teachers will receive an additional 1.8 percent of their year's salary divided by the percentage of their year's salary paid in June.

A teacher earning $20,000 (the figure is for explanation only, and is less than the average salary of the 41 secondary school teachers presently employed by the board) will receive 16 percent of the year's salary in June, as usual, as well as 16 percent of the 1.8 percent increase called for in the COLA clause.

Thus a teacher earning $20,000 a year would receive 16 percent of $360, or an additional $57.50 on the June pay cheque only.

The clause is expected to cost the board approximately $2,600 this year, according to the board's business administrator Jim Leworthy.

As well under the terms of the 78/79 contract, the 1.8 percent cost of living increase above the eight percent "trigger" will be "folded in" to the existing salary grid. A teacher earning $20,000 would thus be considered to earn $20,360 in his or her grid position for the purpose of future salary negotiations.

Negotiations between the board and secondary school teachers have begun for a 1979/80 contract. The present contract expires at the end of August.

Teachers in the elementary school system also have a COLA clause in their present contract. It has a 10 percent "trigger" however, and will not be invoked this year.

Local secondary and elementary school teachers are among only a small group of teachers in the province who have won COLA clause from their boards.

The cottage had been rented to a young woman, who was not home at the time.

Former firemen 'temporarily' appointed to department

Council dismisses chief, Stanhope firemen quit

Stanhope Township was without a fire department for a short time last Thursday night when the entire 20 man department resigned in protest over a council decision with respect to chief Richard Kinsman.

The mass resignation came after council decided Wednesday not to rehire the chief, who had been serving a six month probationary reappointment to the job.

In committee of the whole, with the press and ratepayers excluded, council met with the chief for close to an hour to discuss a report on the department prepared by reeve Jim Harrison. Copies of Harrison's report, which contain findings about the chief's past performance, were distributed to councillors, but the report's contents were not made public.

Thursday, council met with department members in an effort to explain the decision, but the men were not satisfied with what they heard, and tendered their resignations on the spot.

Council then asked the men who had resigned from the department late last year to form a new crew, and by 9:30 p.m. Thursday, at least fourteen men had been temporarily appointed to fill the positions vacated by the resigning men.

The events last week capped months of turmoil in the township over fire department affairs.

Following the committee of the whole meeting at which the chief was dismissed, reeve Jim Harrison declined to comment on the decision, but issued a statement on the matter Monday.

"The action taken by a majority vote of Stanhope council resulting in the fire chief not being reappointed was due to his nonconformance with the new by-law governing the fire department," the reeve's statement said.

"The resulting resignations due to disagreement with council's decision were received with regret."

"I wish to express sincere appreciation to the resigning personnel for their services to the township," the statement continued.

"I must express gratitude to those experienced firemen who had previously withdrawn from the fire department, for their quick response to the situation by immediately reporting to the firehall to assure the township of continuing protection."

"At the moment there are 15 experienced men temporarily serving the department, plus two more without experience. Of the 15 experienced men, four will serve until additional new men have been trained."

The statement left a basic question unanswered about what the chief had done that constituted "nonconformance" with the by-law, which was given third reading April 11. But in a telephone interview Monday night, reeve Harrison declined to elaborate on the statement.

"As far as I'm concerned, council discussed it in committee of the whole and I'm

Information caboose moving, will sit next to station gallery

The familiar, red caboose parked near the intersection of the CN railway tracks and Highway 121 in Haliburton Village will soon roll down the tracks for the last time to its new home; the Rails End Station Gallery.

The go-ahead for the move was given at a Dysart et al council meeting Monday. The decision to move the caboose was a joint one between the Guild of Fine Arts, the Chamber of Commerce, and council, and was made partly because the track holding the car is shifting and slanting, and partly because the groups feel the caboose will be an attractive addition to the station facility.

The move is expected to take place by the end of June, after CN improves the railroad bed to facilitate it. The caboose will be lifted by crane onto the track, and will be rolled to its new location at the end of the rebuilt station platform.

The area around the track of the caboose and behind the station will be graded for parking and the caboose will retain its purpose as a tourist information centre.

A frame cottage on the property of Flamingo Cottages near Haliburton Village was destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. Dysart firemen contained the blaze, preventing a nearby cottage from igniting. Cause of the fire is unknown.

A cheque for $2,000 was donated to Betty Barnum of the Salvation Army last week by the Rotary Club of Haliburton. Ms. Barnum will forward the money to a building fund for a children's centre in Singapore, where she will serve a four-year term there as director of the facility. Presenting the cheque are club president, Ken Langdon and Rotarian, Brian Black.

not going to nail Dick (Kinsman) or the other firemen in any way, shape or form," he said.

"I feel the statement I gave is not going to be detrimental to anybody."

Harrison said the findings contained in the report of his personal investigation of the fire department problems "were not discussed until I went to council and distributed a copy to each one of the council members and Mr. Kinsman." Harrison said he "just couldn't support" the chief based on what he found out and on the discussion of the matter in committee of the whole.

Some of the points contained in the reeve's brief to council were discussed at the Thursday meeting with members of the department before they resigned, he said.

Cottage burns

at about 7 a.m. Sunday morning.

The owner of Flamingo Cottages, who asked that his name not be used, said the local fire brigade did "a hell of a job" in containing the fire to the small frame building. A second cottage, within six feet of the burning building, was slightly scorched but did not ignite.

There were no estimates of damage to the building or its contents.

The cottage was insured.

"We were trying to work it out with them and trying to solve the problems," Harrison said.

The reeve expressed surprise at the obvious discontent of the department with council's actions.

"I was positive we'd get some (resignations) but I didn't feel we'd get the number we did, that's for sure."

The reeve said he thought council and the township might be in for "a rough time" especially in the next three months.

"I just hope that things will get back on an even keel within the next six months or a year," the reeve said, adding that he would "even be happy if some of the men who resigned" would reconsider and go back on (the department).

There was no indication this week that the men were about to reconsider, however, and in a telephone interview Monday, former chief Kinsman said he thought the problems are "just starting".

A number of interested citizens have been making inquiries about the decision, he said, adding that "they're willing to take it further."

"It's not my intention to stir up any dirt," Kinsman said. "I've never done that in the past and I don't intend to do it now. It will be the interested citizens in the community who will carry it from here."

Kinsman said a number of the accusations about his actions have not been true.

"One of the accusations that was thrown at me was that I didn't conform to the by-law, and one council member accused me of bringing a man into the department who had been voted down by the membership." He termed the accusation "an outright lie."

"You can talk to any of the 20 men on my crew and they will tell you that there never was a vote among the membership to turn any man down."

Kinsman said the matter was raised at the meeting

Thursday, and that the entire department denied voting against bringing a man into the department. He admitted however, that he was not at the meeting, and that the information he received about what occurred there was therefore second-hand.

Asked how he felt about the mass resignation, Kinsman said "I talked them into staying last year when I was thrown out, without reason, and I told the men that they would be doing themselves and the municipality a lot of harm. I said I did not wish to see the fellows leave the department because there were too many good men on that department to give it up for nothing. So they stayed. But this time they said there was no way they could stay in the department with the lies and accusations that council has thrown at me."

"I was sorry to see the fire department break up," he said. "But I'll tell you right now, I was darn proud to have 100 percent of the men follow me. It just shows you the feeling that was in the group."

The former chief claimed Monday that for the last six months there had been no problems in the department. During the probationary re-appointment, he said, "I was never once criticized by members of council, or told that I wasn't doing a good job."

"There are a lot of things that may be brought out in the future that are really going to stir up a lot of problems," he said. "And in order to get my name cleared I'm going to have to let them go ahead and do it."

"None of the fellows were trying to cause any problems," Kinsman said. "They came to practice, they did their job, and we had a darn good fire department. Now, through the shortcomings of some members of council, they've really blown the lid off."

Entrance to this year's show will be through the Curling and Squash Club, with the arena doors serving only as an exit. The change is expected to improve pedestrian traffic flow around the displays.

Other special events planned in conjunction with this year's show include a bake sale at 11 a.m. Saturday morning sponsored by the Haliburton

Taking part in the official opening Friday at noon, will be Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey, MPP John Eakins, and MP Bill Scott, along with members of the Haliburton Kinsmen Club. The Haliburton Legion Pipe Band is also expected to be on hand to lead officials on a tour of the displays.

The show opens at noon Friday and continues through Saturday. On Sunday, the final day, doors will open at noon, and will remain open until 4 p.m.

show. The craft seemed linked together as they turned, climbed, hovered and dived at exactly the same moment.

More parachuting, with four other members of the parachute school of Toronto followed the helicopter demonstration, and this time a break in the clouds enabled the jumpers to come in for perfect landings only a few feet from the spectator area.

Next up, and highlight of the afternoon's program, were the two Pitts S2A's of the world famous Canadian Reds. The tiny biplanes, with rugged 200 horsepower engines, are more than capable of handling the enormous stresses of competition stunt flying, and pilots Rod Ellis and Bill Cowan put the Pitts through their paces with a daring born of supreme confidence and skill. The Canadian Reds performance proved to be the climax of the afternoon, and it was followed by more radio control flying, this time with Bob Stevens putting a biplane through its paces, and more parachute jumping.

Other highlights of the weekend included the beef barbeque and the fly-in dance Saturday night.

Stanhope employs students for various work programs

Stanhope Township will have a total of 14 youths employed this summer through Canada Works, Experience '79 and Ministry of Natural Resources programs.

Students hired for the municipality under the government programs will be carrying out a number of functions for Stanhope. Five students have been hired for eight weeks under an Experience '79 grant, the first program the township applied for. Four of the students will be utilized in a swimming instruction program, operating under the auspices of the recreation committee. The students are Carolyn Kinsman, who will be the instruction supervisor, Marylyn Kinsman, Carolyn Nelson and Sue Kyles. The instructions will be held on Little Boshkung Lake.

The other student hired under the program, Kim Gorveatt, will set up a volunteer assistance centre for the municipality's senior citizens. The program will utilize volunteers who wish to donate their time to help those who may need it. The project is a pilot program, and Ms. Gorveatt is currently planning a list of services which could be available.

Under a Young Canada Works program, three students will be hired to teach and supervise indoor/outdoor sports, arts and crafts and playground activities for the recreation committee. The students involved are Heather Thomson, Lois MacBrien and Cathy Hall. Robert Dies and Beth McMullen will be rotating shifts with two of the other students during August.

In addition, the Ministry of Natural Resources will designate six students to the municipality for the season. They will be eligible only for work to develop or maintain areas described as access roads to water, consisting of cutting grass along access routes, the clearing of existing portages and developing launch areas and clearings. The township will provide the machinery and some secondary supervision.

Students to be employed under the ministry program are Denise Green, who will be the group foreman, Leith Douglas, Marylou Johnson, Terry Robinson, Rob Jones and Michael Varty.

Last year, the Ministry did not offer the program to municipalities, and a total of eight students were hired by Stanhope, according to clerk Gerald Bain.

"This will certainly be work that will be of benefit to permanent and seasonal residents, as well as transient," he said.

"We're very happy with the number of programs we have going."

Day camp program is planned

A day-camp program has been planned for the first time by the Haliburton School of Fine Arts.

The program, which will be offered to children ages five to 12, will be held at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School from July 2 to August 31. Activities such as crafts, puppets, music, theatre, gymnastics and pottery are some of the programs to be taught by the school. Outdoor activities such as sports, games, campcraft and nature hikes will also be featured.

"The idea behind this is for people who work who need a place to take their children during the day," said acting school director Susan Little. "It's a place where the kids can have something to do."

Two instructors have been hired by the school, and another may be brought in if the need is demonstrated.

Since this is the first year the program has been offered, family rates have not been planned, but savings can be made if the enrollment is for more than one week per child. Rates are $25 per week per child for more than one week, and $30 for just one week. Payment need not be in lump sums, according to Mrs. Little, and parents may pay weekly if they wish to do so.

For further information on the program, contact Barb Bolin or Sue Little at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts.

Dysart donates $200 to Field relief fund

Dysart et al council will donate $200 to the Field-Springer Townships' disaster relief fund.

The Northern Ontario townships were classified as a disaster area in the wake of a massive flood last month that wiped out thousands of acres of prime farmland and left damage estimated in the millions of dollars.

In a letter to Dysart et al council, the townships requested that other municipalities contribute to the fund. Since the land is considered a disaster area, the province will match donations to the relief fund on a four to one basis. Council felt a contribution to the fund was in order, since a disaster could also strike this area without warning.

"You never know - we might need the money some day," said deputy-revee Harold Bannan.

Council at first considered giving $100 to the fund, but reeve Murray Fearney pointed to the fact that if $200 is donated, it will make a total allotment of $1000 to the area, when matched with $800 from the province's four to one funding.

"If every municipality donated that much, they (the townships) would be pretty well off," the reeve added.

OPP report

The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police report the following activity for the period of June 4 through 10.

During the period the staff investigated 11 reportable and three non reportable motor vehicle collisions, as well as some 93 general occurrences.

There were eight break-ins reported, nine thefts, three missing persons, two persons charged with liquor violations, five boating infractions, and one impaired driver charged.

To clear the air

Last week, in protest against the dismissal of fire chief Richard Kinsman, 20 Stanhope firemen who had been working with the chief since his probationary reappointment to the department in December, resigned. The move came suddenly and collectively at a meeting between the men and council, who had dismissed the chief the day before. And its effects are sure to be felt for months, perhaps years to come.

The firemen who resigned apparently did so because they could not concur with council's decision to dismiss the chief. Two of the five men on council also do not share the view that the chief should have been dismissed. They voted against the move at a council meeting last Wednesday.

The split in council, and the apparent solidarity of the 20 men who had been serving on the department, point to serious questions about the validity of the decision to dismiss chief Richard Kinsman.

Since the problems began in the department more than a year ago, ratepayers have been kept largely in the dark about council's views, and about the problems and possible shortcomings among the former council, the present council, and the fire department. Accusations and defenses have been made in closed meetings, with only the final decision appearing in minutes, and only the most succinct conclusions written into resolutions passed in open council.

Council, of course, has a responsibility to protect the privacy of individuals, and so far as it is actually doing so, can legitimately retire behind the veil of silence that cloaks committee of the whole meetings. But when a situation has gone as far as the conflict between council and chief has gone in Stanhope, the time has come for the public to demand some answers.

The majority of council feels the chief has not lived up to the dictates of a newly passed fire department by-law. The 20 men on the department obviously feel otherwise, as do two council members. The former chief has been subjected to pressure and even verbal abuse from ratepayers, and yet he remains convinced he has done no wrong. It's time ratepayers demanded to know what went wrong in Stanhope, and on whose doorstep the blame should be laid. It's time both sides were given an opportunity to air their views at a public hearing. And it's time the essence, if not all the details, of the report of the chief's performance prepared by reeve Jim Harrison, was opened to public scrutiny.

A spokesman for the Ontario Fire Marshall's Office indicated Tuesday that the fire marshal will conduct a public enquiry into the matter if council and ratepayers request it.

That kind of enquiry may be just what the township needs to begin a process of healing. An impartial body might well be able to get behind the emotion and personalities that continue to complicate the issue, and answer the question at the core of last week's resignations. Was the dismissal of Richard Kinsman justified? The public has a right to know, and to date, it does not.

An investigation by the Fire Marshall's office would provide the answer.

Anticipating next year

It was to have been one of the year's biggest events. It was to bring together people from across the county and beyond to watch military and civilian aircraft go through their paces. It was to give aviation buffs a chance to look over a large number of planes up close, and to provide a pleasant Sunday afternoon diversion for others who enjoy watching the daring and skill of pilots and the precision of expensive machinery. It was to be all those things and more. But this year's version of the Stanhope fly-in and air show was plagued by the most unpredictable aspect of any outdoor event, the weather. The rain held off but low clouds and poor visibility across the province kept scores of pilots at their home fields, and eliminated many of the military aircraft that have added much to previous shows.

It was a tough blow to organizers of the event, who spent literally months planning the afternoon of flying and the dance that goes along with it. And in the disappointment those people felt at the grey skies and the small turnout, some of them may wonder if the work was worth it. To the hundreds of people who did make it to the show however, there can be only one answer. It was worth it.

Few events in Haliburton County offer so much appeal to so many people. Few events linger in the memory so long, or are looked forward to with so much anticipation. The Stanhope air show will continue to be one of the highlights of the year in the area, and as it becomes more widely known, there is every possibility that it will continue to grow.

Let's hope one weekend of poor weather isn't enough to dampen the spirits of the show's organizers. Next year, with luck, and good weather, the show is sure to be better. And a lot of people are looking forward to it already.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

No doubt, you have heard about the recent resignation of all firemen from the Stanhope Fire Department in support of their chief, Mr. Richard Kinsman, after the Stanhope council dismissed Mr. Kinsman in a split vote.

Following is my letter of resignation which was given to the Stanhope council on June 7. I believe your readers may be interested in seeing this letter as it is typical of the other letters of resignation submitted to council on June 7, 1979. The feelings expressed in the letter are held by all the men who resigned.

To the Stanhope Council:

This letter is to inform you that I no longer wish to be a member of the Stanhope Fire Department. Please take this as final notice of my resignation.

It is important that you know the reasons for this decision:

1. Fire Chief: The Fire Chief, Mr. Richard Kinsman, whom the majority of council has seen fit to dismiss, was a very capable leader in our department. All men presently in the department have much respect for Mr. Kinsman, and the rapport within the fire department has been excellent in the last six months. I feel that he has taken much verbal abuse within the county in the last year. Virtually all accusations made regarding Mr. Kinsman are untrue and unfair. The council has taken no action to protect the reputation of Mr. Kinsman within the county, although Mr. Kinsman has spent many hundreds of hours carrying out the responsibilities of fire chief, without pay.

Mr. Kinsman has been holding excellent training sessions, and all men have been continuously drilled on fire procedures.

2. Council Support: All members on the fire department volunteer their services to the township without pay. We have all been falsely accused of incompetence and have suffered a great deal of verbal abuse in the media in the past year. The council has been aware of this. Throughout this year, all men presently on the department have remained faithful to the department and provided excellent fire protection for the township, but I was not aware, even once, of the council's support of their fire department in the media. I believe this would have been a small gesture of appreciation and support during the difficult times.

3. Township Appreciation: When the disruptions in the fire department began with the dismissal of firemen, about a year ago, followed by the resignation of various other firemen, all men remaining in the department, including myself, decided that our main interest was to give the township adequate fire protection. We, therefore, agreed to ignore all criticisms that were directed toward us to achieve this end.

Instead of the township realizing that our concerns were for their protection, various antagonizers incited others in the township to criticize every action we made as a department. After many months of this type of harassment, I, for one, feel that I have donated enough time to the township.

It should be realized by all of the township just how much time is annually donated to the fire department for the benefit of the township. I have briefly outlined it as follows:

- (a) 3 hours every Monday night X 50 nights equals 150 hours per year. At the Minden rate of $5.00 per hour X 150 hours equals $750.00.
- (b) Minimum of 15 fires per year at a minimum of $20.00 per fire equals $300.00. The total for one year is $1,050.00.

These figures do not include other hours spent for such things as Mutual Aid meetings, fly-in coverages, etc. Another point to be noted is that most fire calls come between 1 a.m. and 5 a.m., a time when no one wants to be up.

As a fireman, I did not mind performing all of the duties mentioned above, but when I only receive "mud in the face" for performing such duties and lose an excellent leader to follow in such duties, I have no choice other than to resign from the fire department.

Sincerely,
Ray E. Johnson,
RR 2, Minden, Ont.

Editor's note: The following is a copy of a letter sent by councillor Elvin Johnson to Stanhope clerk Gerald Bain:

Dear Sir:

In answer to your letter of appointment to Stanhope Fire Department, may I point out to you again By-law 79-3, 4-1.

Since I said I would act for emergency calls that did not mean in any way that I could or would respond to fire calls. Since this seems to be assumed, please take this letter as my positive refusal to act as a fire fighter and have my name taken from that list.

Respectfully yours,
Elvin Johnson, Councillor,
Township of Stanhope

To the Editor:

Livestock owners of Haliburton County: It's time to take a long hard look at the veterinarian service in our county. We now have two local veterinarians, one subsidized by the province and the Livestock Producers Association. On many an occasion, the subsidized vet cannot be reached by phone, and in fact, not on the weekends at all, which means your animals would need to make an appointment to be sick. This is not hearsay. It happened to me last Sunday. I also called the new veterinarian and was told he was closed Tuesday, Saturday and Sunday. I then called the Lindsay Animal Clinic in Lindsay that has served this area for over 30 years, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and in 50 minutes, the veterinarian was in my barn.

The point I would like to make is: we must not let our service with the Lindsay clinic deteriorate to the point that they cannot keep enough staff to service our area. By using the local service only when they want to be on duty we will have a part time service, which is worse than nothing.

This is the big weekend coming up in Haliburton. It's time for the Kinsmen Club of Haliburton to present their third annual Home and Vacation Show. The dates for the three day event are this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 15, 16 and 17. The Kinsmen Club told me this week that the show, which will be held in the Dysart Community Centre and the Haliburton Curling Club, promises to be the best one that they have ever held. There will be no admission charge to the show and the hours will be on Friday from noon to 10 p.m. and on Saturday, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and on Sunday, noon to 4 p.m. A dance is scheduled for Saturday night and the show will feature plenty of music, lots of free draws and a few surprises here and there. Make plans now to attend and I am sure that you won't want to miss it. It's another community project sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of Haliburton.

We are pleased to welcome home Mike Scheffee to Haliburton after spending a year in Brazil as an exchange student from the Rotary Club of Haliburton. Mike told me that he really enjoyed his trip, met a wonderful group of people and made many new friends. He will be at the Rotary Club meeting this Thursday night to speak to the members of the club.

Mr. James Rackley of Augusta, Georgia, a former state trooper with the Georgia Highway Patrol, will be the guest speaker when the Brotherhood of Anglican Churchmen hold their monthly communion and breakfast at St. Andrew's Anglican Church at West Guilford this coming Sunday morning, June 17 at 7:30 a.m.

We have just been informed that the 27th annual Commencement will be held at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School auditorium on Saturday, June 23, 1979 at 7 p.m. Presentation of diplomas and reception for the graduates and their friends after commencement.

The "We Treat You Royally" seminars which have been held at various parts of the county recently haven't been the success that we had all hoped for. It seems that only a few employers took the time to make sure that their employees got out to these meetings to learn just how to treat their customers "royally". We can do all the talking on this subject that we want to but if we are not going to put some of these good public relation topics into practice then we might as well forget about it. We would like to think that we are all doing everything in our power to welcome our visitors in a friendly manner and try to make them feel at home, but I think that we must all agree that we are very weak in this area. In the months that lie ahead let's try to turn over a new leaf and show everyone just what good public relations is all about.

James Rackley of Augusta, Georgia will be the guest speaker when the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship in Canada (Haliburton Hyland Chapter) hold their dinner meeting and fellowship at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall in Haliburton this Friday evening, June 15 at 7:00 p.m. James Rackley is a former state trooper with the Georgia Highway Patrol. He was assigned as a bodyguard to President Jimmy Carter when he was Governor of Georgia. His career in law enforcement ended in 1975 when he entered Rhema Bible Training Center in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and graduated in 1976. Then for one year he was associated with the Kenneth Hagin Evangelistic Association and travelled extensively from coast to coast working as the crusade director. He has continued to travel across the United States, Canada and Mexico sharing his testimony, holding seminars, teaching and preaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

A crowd of over 120 people were on hand for the St. George's annual parish family picnic which was held at Halimar on Sunday. The rain held off and everyone had a really good time.

I was talking to a friend of mine recently who lives in Toronto and has a summer cottage near Haliburton. We talked about many things and mainly what should be done here in the future. He brought up the point that it was a shame that many of our young people who receive an education in Haliburton have to leave home for other centres to seek employment. He brought up a good point when he told me that we must do something to bring in light industry and other things so that the young people can find employment right at home. We are really encouraged to see that some of our summer visitors take so much interest in the community. Many of the local natives here don't seem to care less.

The Kinsmen Club of Minden have announced that they will be holding their annual Marathon Draw and Dance with the winner of the draw to receive $1,000.00 at the Minden Community Centre auditorium on Friday, June 22 from 8:30 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. The admission is $2.50 per person. Holders of Marathon draw tickets presenting June stub will be admitted free. Live music.

Ron Stackhouse of the Pittsburgh Penguins was on the protected list when the club announced the names of the players for the expansion draft of the National Hockey League which was held last Wednesday to stock the four clubs from the World Hockey League who will be joining the N.H.L. for the upcoming hockey season. The four clubs are Hartford Whalers, Quebec Nordiques, Winnipeg Jets and the Edmonton Oilers.

Whether you are using a canoe for fishing, tripping or just pure pleasure, the Ontario Safety League suggests that you keep in mind the various precautions necessary to overcome hazards during the spring of the year. Many of the dangers confronting canoeists in the spring, such as poor weather, overloading, tricky water, can be overcome if a little planning is done and a lot of common sense is used.

Water Levels Are Still an Issue

The water levels committee that was formed almost two years ago due to the shortage of water in our area met again last Sunday. The committee has representation on it from both local municipalities and cottager association, along with the Chamber of Commerce. One of the first orders of business of the group was to give chairman Murray Fearney a vote of confidence and ask him to remain in the chair for another year.

The progress made in gaining cooperation with the Trent Canal authority since the inception of this committee has been most rewarding. This is not to say there is still not minor problems occurring from time to time, often through human error which can usually be rectified. One cottager from the Loon Lake area attended the meeting to voice his concern over his water levels now actually being too high. It has been found in a number of cases that the authority is now flexible enough to react to some local concern but obviously could become embroiled in conflict if they attempted to satisfy differing objections from the same lake. It was therefore agreed by the committee that they would welcome submissions from any bonafide cottagers association as long as they had passed through that association's own meeting in the form of a motion. In other words, the commission must be sure they are dealing with the feelings of the majority of the cottagers rather than those of one or two individuals.

The commission agreed to set three main goals for their future endeavours. The first was to apply pressure to CORTS for representation from the Haliburton Highlands on their board. CORTS is a body set up by provincial and federal governments to deal with recommendations for the administration of the Trent and Rideau Canal Systems. The mandate for this body calls for representation from the canal system areas themselves and makes no reference to the reservoir system areas. The water levels committee found it completely unacceptable that this body should be expected to provide rational recommendations to the Trent Canal System without having representation that was aware of the problems that can be created in the reservoir system.

The second goal was to work towards the establishment of a further reservoir and flood control system to augment what is presently in use. This additional reservoir capacity would act as a buffer to handle flood conditions or extremely dry weather without drastically affecting lakes where cottage development has been permitted. Establishment of a conservation authority may be the means to this end and this avenue is being investigated.

The third area of concern by this committee is to address the acid rain problem. The committee of course does not expect to find the answers to this serious problem, but does intend to be at least one group that will apply as much pressure as possible to the powers that be to find answers before it is too late.

This committee to date has provided an excellent example of how cottagers and municipal officials can work together towards a common end. With a good degree of success behind them they look

Report from Queens Park

by MPP John Eakins

Natural Resources Minister James Auld recently announced a revision of 14 different hunting licences, which is expected to bring in approximately $6.5 million in additional revenue over the next three years. With the exception of moose licences, this is the first time hunting fees have been raised since 1970. For residents of Ontario, deer, moose and farmer's deer licences have all been raised by $5 to $15, $20 and $10 respectively. The lowest amount resident hunters will pay for any licence, such as the raccoon dog licence and the small game licence or "groundhog" licence, will be $5.00.

Licences for persons who are not Ontario residents have increased by proportionately greater amounts. It will now cost a non-resident $200 to hunt moose in Ontario, which is $25 higher than 1978 (the $200 licence is a composite or "general" licence, valid for moose, deer, bear, and small game). The small difference between the previous licences which allowed non-residents to hunt either small game or deer, bears and small game has been corrected. The choice these hunters will now have will be between a $40 non-resident small game licence, and an $80 deer, bear, small game licence.

Issuers of hunting licences, which include owners of general or sporting goods stores and a few handicapped people, will also receive more for their services. Not all of the increase, therefore, will go into government coffers. Over the past 12 months, the government has reviewed all of its "non-tax" sources of revenue. Fees that are charged by the province, such as hunting licence fees, service charges, royalties, and costs of items for sale have been reviewed in detail. The objective is to raise additional revenue for increased costs of government services demanded by the public, rather than raising revenue by raising taxes.

Mr. Auld said that he is often asked whether hunting licence fees go directly into the wildlife management program. He pointed out that revenue from this source goes into the consolidated revenue fund along with revenues from most other government sources such as automotive licences, taxes, royalties, etc. This is the general pot that the Ontario government draws upon to support most of its programs. Monies from lotteries constitute an exception.

All vendors and builders selling new homes or building new homes for sale must be registered by the Registrar under the Ontario New Homes Warranties Plan Act. A number of registrations have been revoked for cause, others because of failure to apply for the annual renewal of their registrations. They may no longer build new homes for sale. Since January 31, 1979 the following action has been taken:

- Four have had their registrations revoked because of bankruptcy.
- 19 have had their registrations revoked for financial reasons or failure to carry out the terms of their warranties.
- 31 had their applications for renewal refused because the applicants were unable to provide evidence that they could reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the management of their undertakings.

- 90 have had their registrations revoked as they failed to apply for renewal.
- 10 had their initial application refused as it was determined that they could not reasonably be expected to be financially responsible in the conduct of their undertakings.

One of the best ways I know to knock the mortar out from between the bricks of your marriage - is to un cement things - is to join your spouse in cleaning up the basement/attic. Take your pick. One's as bad as the other.

My wife's been talking about cleaning up our basement for approximately 15 years. I have avoided it by resorting to a number of subterfuges that I will gladly send you on receipt of a certified cheque for five bucks.

That may seem a little expensive, but it takes a mighty lot of subterfuges to get through 15 years.

But nemesis is unavoidable. It came last week in the form of an ad in the local paper stating that the town trucks would pick up household junk on the following Thursday.

It caused a lot of deep thinking in our town. What constitutes household junk? Some chaps I know sat there, pretending to watch TV, while their dark and secret minds conjured visions of chloroforming the old woman, putting her in a green garbage bag, and sticking her out by the curb on Thursday.

I'm happy to say that nothing of the sort occurred to me (it says here). But the notice did draw a deep and anguished groan, right from the heels. I knew what was coming.

I thought I might be able to stall her until the Wednesday evening before, when we could lug a few things out of the jungle that lies below, and leave the rest to rot, as it has been doing for 15 years.

But it was not to be. With complete disregard for my feelings about the sacredness, the almost holiness, of weekends, she dragged me down into the underworld, on a perfect day for playing golf, pointed, and coldly said: "Let's go."

Oh, I could have sneered, picked up my golf clubs, walked to the car, and driven off. I wish I had that kind of guts. But I knew I'd come home to a living martyr and six months of sheer hell.

I went. Down. That's when I began to envy those lucky devils who have converted their basements into rec rooms. If you have one of those, you don't unpack a box, remove the contents, and happily hurl the container down the cellar steps. You get rid of it in some seemingly fashion.

It's not the grubbing through spiderwebs and other assorted dirt that I mind. First job I ever had was cleaning out latrines, and I have no dignity when it comes to dirt. What gets me is the

Tennis Club elects executive, sets new fees for seagon

The Haliburton Tennis Club met recently to elect an executive and determine club fees.

This year's executive consists of Jack Gubser, president; Mike Fearrey, treasurer; Steve Baker and Hugh Nichol, tournament organizers.

Fee scale for this year was set as follows: adult, $20; student, $10, child, $5; couple, $30; and family, $35. A key to the courts will be provided to members for a $5 deposit.

This year, memberships can be purchased at Victoria Sports at Haliburton rather than at Emmerson Lumber. Members of the executive said this week that they wished to extend the club's thanks to Mr. Emmerson for providing this service in the past.

The courts will be open to the public each day until 5 p.m. Evening will be reserved for club members.

Anyone with questions or concerns can call Jack Gubser at 457-1235, or Mike Fearrey at 457-1958.

front 14 - 3 in the fourth inning on costly errors by Minden and timely hits by Haliburton. The Minden team fought back to lose 14 - 10. The Haliburton ladies were led by Nancy Maughan and Wendy Roberts at the plate while Jan Fetchett was hot at the plate for Minden. Nancy Maughan was the winning pitcher while Ann Hewson took the loss.

Also Monday night Snowdon's Andy's Angels travelled to West Guilford only to be beaten 25 - 14. Heather Thompson and Bonnie Stevens had a good night at bat while Judy Precor was hot for Snowdon. Audrey Vick took the loss while Jennifer Muller was the winning pitcher.

Tuesday night saw the Minden ladies' bats finally making contact as they downed Wilberforce 30 - 7. Wilberforce kept it close until the third inning when in the fourth the Minden ladies erupted for 15 runs. Lynne Winans, Helen Burk and Marlene Wilson led the Minden assault, while Susan Rivers had a good night for Wilberforce.

Wednesday night Carnarvon travelled to Wilberforce and came up with a strong game to defeat Wilberforce 39 - 9. Carnarvon had strong hitting from Joan Algar and Kelly Harrison. Marg Darby was the winning pitcher.

Also Wednesday night West Guilford played Snowdon in Lochlin. West Guilford came up with a strong game and defeated the home team 41 - 13. Cheryl Nicholls and Heather Thompson had good bats for Guilford. Anne Burk was the losing pitcher while Jennifer Muller was the winning pitcher.

Thursday night West Guilford played their third game in the week against Carnarvon. This was a very close game with Carnarvon coming up on top 17 - 11. The winning pitcher was Belinda Brown while the losing pitcher was Jennifer Muller.

Work now underway on Stanhope courts

Stanhope residents should have two new tennis courts to play on by the end of this month or early next month.

The courts, to be built in the area of the firehall and library on the North Shore Road, are expected to cost $14,467.64. Grants from Wintario and from the province under the Community Recreation Centres program, will total $8,979.78. Of the remaining $5,487.86, $2,800, will come from a private donation, leaving $2,687.86 as the taxpayers direct cost for the courts. The municipality's share is already in a reserve fund for the purpose.

Some preparatory work will be completed by the municipality before the contractor, Fowler Construction, begins work on the courts later this month.

The two double courts, measuring 110 feet by 122 feet, will be fenced in when work is completed.

Province raises cost of all hunting licences beginning this season

Nothing is surer than death, taxes and the cost of a raccoon dog licence. At least this used to be true. The cost of licensing a dog to hunt raccoons was set at one dollar 23 years ago and due to the relative insignificance of the total revenue from this one source, it has not been changed...until now.

Natural Resources Minister James A. C. Auld this week announced a revision of fees of 14 different hunting licences, which is expected to bring in approximately $6.5 million in additional revenue over the next three years.

With the exception of moose licences, this is the first time hunting licence fees have been raised since 1970.

For residents in Ontario, deer, moose and farmer's deer licences have all been raised by $5 to $15, $20, and $10 respectively. The lowest amount resident hunters will pay for any licence, such as the raccoon dog licence and the small game licence or "groundhog" licence, will be $5.00.

Licences for persons who are not Ontario residents have increased by proportionately greater amounts.

It will now cost a non-resident $200 to hunt moose in Ontario, which is $25 more than he or she paid in 1978 (the $200 licence is a composite or "general" licence, valid for moose, deer, bear, and small game). The small difference between the previous licences which allowed non-residents to hunt either small game or deer, bears and small game has been corrected. The choice these hunters will now have will be between a $40 non-resident

We've taken a new look at Ontario's Planning Act. For land's sake.

Land. Ontario has over one million square kilometres of it. It's important to all of us that every kilometre is put to the best possible use, now and in the future.

That's why Ontario has a Planning Act. It's the legal framework that determines how land should be used, and in what form development should take place.

Under the present Act, municipalities wishing to pass bylaws relating to the use of land go to the Ontario Municipal Board for provincial approval.

In recent years, however, the provincial government's role in municipal planning has been changing. A committee established in 1975 took a close look at the Planning Act to see how it could be adapted to suit the changing needs of the municipalities as well as to make the procedures more efficient.

After getting reaction to the report of the Planning Act Review Committee, the government has now produced the White Paper outlining its position on revising the Act.

The main proposals are:

- The province would place more emphasis on advice and assistance than on its current role of supervising and approving local planning decisions

- Municipalities, where appropriate, would be given autonomy to make planning decisions. This will apply to municipalities which have the resources and capabilities to handle increased planning responsibility

- The public would have better access into the planning process. Municipalities will have to extend public notification procedures to people who will be affected by planning decisions

- To speed up the process, the Ontario Municipal Board would act only as an appeals body.

A copy of the White Paper has been made available to municipalities, planning boards and other interested groups. If you are interested, contact the Ministry of Housing, Communications Branch, 56 Wellesley St. W., Toronto, Ontario M7A 2K4.

"Don't Build A Home Without Us"

Peter Schellenberg has started up a new business in Haliburton Village, taking over the Pyramid T.V. repair shop at the top of Highland Street. Peter says that he does "just about any kind of repair" on colour or black and white televisions, and is currently in the process of obtaining an Electrohome franchise. Peter has been running the business since May 10th.

Representative to Kawartha CAS named at County council

At the May meeting of Haliburton County Council, the following matters were considered:

Accounts totalling $62,776.20 were approved for payment.

Merideth Amm, chairman of the Improvement District of Bicroft, was appointed to the position of representative to Kawartha Haliburton Children's Aid Society to replace Chesley Noseworthy for the balance of the 1979 term.

Committee reports were given for the Chamber of Commerce by representative Fred Baum; county road system by chairman M. Fearrey; Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home; chairman R. Vick; Haliburton County public library; warden J. Harrison; children's services; Major G. Lewis; Health Unit; representative K. Tallman.

R. Formica of the Ministry of Housing spoke briefly to county council and delivered a letter, contents of which were to be discussed at a meeting which was arranged for May 31.

By-law 1070, having been read a first time, be considered read a second and third time, passed, signed and the Corporate Seal attached, being a by-law for the purpose of confirming By-law No. 79-11 of the Municipality of Dysart et al to stop up, close and convey a portion of Sullivan Drive on Registered Plan 350 in the Township of Harburn.

By-law 1071, a by-law for the purpose of confirming By-law No. 79-16 of the Municipality of Dysart et al to stop up, close and convey a portion of the original allowance for road between Concessions 7 and 8 through Lot 26 in the Township of Dysart, was also passed, as was By-law No. 1072, a by-law for the purpose of confirming By-law No. 79-27 of the Corporation of the United Townships of Dysart, Dudley, Harcourt, Guilford, Harburn, Bruton, Havelock, Eyre and Clyde, to close, stop up and convey part of the former travelled East Kennis Drive, situated in Registered Plan 402 in the Township of Havelock. Council decided to invite the Honourable James Snow to spend a day in Haliburton County to tour Highway 519 and 507.

Brian Cross of the Ministry of Natural Resources addressed county council on various aspects of Forest Management and answered questions. He was requested to arrange for discussion at the next meeting on acid rain and its effect on vegetation.

Glen Hodgson, chairman of the Haliburton County Economic Development Commission, brought to the attention of council that deputy reeve Elgin Stouffer had been elected vice-president of the Accident Prevention Association of Ontario, and said this was a unique honour and credit to Haliburton County.

Hodgson spoke to council further on the withdrawal of the ARDA program, and recommended programs which would be of assistance to forest management.

Eakins gives tax credits advice

John Eakins M.P.P. (Victoria-Haliburton) said this week that he would like to bring to his constituents attention some background information on Ontario's Tax Credits to low-income families.

Eakins said that "in Ontario, financial aid to low-income groups is provided through a variety of programs including subsidized housing and Family Benefits payments. Additional help is also given through the Ontario Tax Credit program. Because property taxes and retail sales tax are collected without regard to an individual's income, Ontario Tax Credits provide the opportunity to return a portion of these taxes to those who need assistance the most.

Many people who have no taxable income are not aware that they may be eligible for Ontario Tax Credits. To claim the credits, a federal income tax return must be filed together with the Ontario Tax Credit form which is in the federal kit.

The Property Tax Credit returns some of the money spent on accommodation during 1978, whether a taxpayer paid property taxes or rent. Tenants living in subsidized housing or those whose rent is paid directly to Ontario Housing by Welfare authorities, may also be eligible for this credit.

The Sales Tax Credit returns some of the money paid for provincial sales tax on goods and services purchased throughout the year. If you are a single parent, you may claim the "equivalent to married exemption" for a child on your income tax return. This will raise your personal exemptions which, in turn, will increase the amount of Sales Tax Credit you will receive.

Taxfilers having a taxable income of more than $2,311 must reduce the amount of Ontario Tax Credits which they may claim by 2 percent of their taxable income. Social assistance recipients, however, have no taxable income and therefore there is no reduction on the total sum of the credits for which they are eligible.

"As your member of the Legislature I would like to ensure that everyone takes full advantage of the Ontario Tax Credits available to them. If you require more information, call the Ministry of Revenue's multilingual Information Centre, free of charge at the following number: 1-800-268-7121," Eakins said.

Damages high in single car accidents throughout County

Bee in shirt, motorcycle rider loses control

A bee that got inside a driver's shirt is blamed for a motorcycle accident in Lutterworth Township last Thursday.

Curtis T. Leary, 16, of Toronto, told police he was northbound on County Road 2 when a bee flew inside his shirt. The bee caused Leary to take his attention off the operation of his motorcycle momentarily. The vehicle went onto the east shoulder of the road and rolled into a lake.

Damage to Leary's motorcycle, a 1977 Honda, was estimated at $800. There was no word on the fate of the bee.

A West Guilford woman was charged with driving left of centre in the wake of a crash between a van and a dump truck last Wednesday that resulted in at least $8000 damage.

Police say Ellen L. Brown, 30, of West Guilford was eastbound on Sawyers Lake Road and driving left of centre when she came over the crest of a hill and met a westbound International dump truck driven by Michael B. Fearrey, 20, of Haliburton.

Damage to the 77 Chev van Brown was driving was estimated at $4,500. Damage to the dump truck was estimated at $3,500.

A Kitchener woman escaped injury early Friday morning when the car she was driving went out of control and rolled over twice.

Police say Sandra Pearce, 36, was southbound on Highway 35 near the Buttermill Falls bridge when she apparently misjudged the severity of the curve in the road. The '75 Corvette she was driving dropped onto the west shoulder, and she overcorrected, causing the car to go out of control. It travelled back onto the highway and re-entered the west ditch, striking a rock face and rolling over twice.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $3000.

Damage was estimated at $1000 in a single car accident on County Road 1 in Hindon Township late Friday night.

Police say Richard M. Thompson, 35, of Kleinburg was eastbound in heavy fog when he swerved to miss an unknown animal on the roadway.

The vehicle entered the north ditch and struck a rock face.

Art Ward appointed TIAC director at board meeting

Art Ward, vice chairman of Tourism Ontario, was appointed a director of the Tourism Industry Association of Canada at a board meeting held recently in St. John's, Newfoundland. As a director, Ward will contribute to policy making decisions at the federal level on matters affecting tourism in Canada.

Past president of Resorts Ontario, Ward is a graduate of the Ryerson Polytechnical Institute, where he specialized in hotel, restaurant and institutional management. He is currently the owner of Wig-a-mog Inn on Lake Kashagawigamog near Haliburton Village.

Tourism Ontario, of which Ward is vice chairman, is an umbrella organization representing hospitality and travel associations on issues of common concern to the industry. Federation members include Northern Ontario Tourist Outfitters Association, Ontario Hotel and Motel Association, Ontario Motel Association, Ontario Restaurant and Food services Association, Ontario Ski Resorts Association, Resorts Ontario, and the twelve Ontario Travel Associations.

Extendicare News

by Dr. W. O. Anderson

We had a bit of a let down Monday morning. We expected to board a bus to take us to the Parliament Buildings, Queen's Park, as a guest of John Ekins M.P.P. for Haliburton, but instead we were told the bus we were to take had broken down. This was our second 'stand up' in the same circumstance in the past year. We cannot win them all.

Business being as usual our ladies settled down to making cake - one banana loaf, one lemon loaf, two cherry loaves, two coconut orange loaves, and two date and nut loaves to mention what you will miss if we do not see you at our coming tea sale bazaar June 20. The ladies participating were Mrs. Hazel Parish, Mrs. Ada Denholm, Mrs. Elizabeth McIntosh, Mrs. Lottie Woodcock and Mrs. Flossie Burk in the tutelage of Mrs. Pat Burk and the cheerful Mrs. Mary McKee, one of our reliable volunteers. Besides the delicious eatables, we will be displaying ingenious crafts, fancy work, wood gadgets, plants and flowers and will make our best efforts to be sociable.

Joe Clark seems to be a common sense prime minister without any need to strut. For quite some time his dominant excellence has been organization in the complexities of business, manufacturing, export-import, foreign affairs, domestic affairs, unemployment, inflation, crime and welfare to name a few. All are entangled to make a snarl. All Canadians must unite to give him and his cabinet every bit of help we can.

The Extendicare landscape is at a peak of beauty but still lacks the grooming of some of the flower beds. It is amazing how well nature can make a bed attractive even if nothing is done, but then the bed is slowly returned to its former state. Of all the shrubs and bushes that were bought to make things nice - lilacs, spirea, roses, climbing roses, about 25 in all are in leaf with one exception, a climbing rose.

Bingo as usual was the routine for Tuesday afternoon, marred by the news that one of our volunteer helpers at this pastime, Mrs. Dorothy Davidson, is leaving Haliburton to live in Hespeler. We will have to manage somehow without her. The other volunteer ladies were Mrs. Dorothy Iles, Mrs. Betty Wise, Mrs. Velma Stringer, Mrs. Kel Andison and Miss

Karen Henderson.

We wish to thank the Full Gospel Businessmen's Association for a very nice cheque we received from them. It seems that this Christian group think they owe us something for favours. When such a group have Christ in their midst, all is right with the world. Thank you kind sirs.

The DC 10 needs some comment that is pertinent. A jet that is intended to carry heavy passenger loads should be structurally as perfect as is possible. But in the past years that the larger planes have been in use, it seems that qualified engineers have become careless in taking the structural designs for granted. We realize that added strength in a theoretical weak spot throughout in building may reduce the pay load of a plane when in service, but will by the same token eliminate the horrors that occurred at Chicago. Nothing should be taken for granted in heavier than air craft. The blue prints for all passenger planes building, built or in service should be reassessed by qualified engineers for theoretical flaws.

For our devotional period Thursday morning we had as spiritual leader, Captain Doug Burry of the Haliburton Salvation Army and his accompanist, Keen in mind the Captain is a pianist of reasonable merit. The theme was "It is important to have your life dedicated to God". Before closing he announced the disturbing information that he is leaving Haliburton to carry on his Christian duties in Nova Scotia, the Cape Breton part. Captain Burry has been exceptionally faithful to us. May he always continue to merit God's most precious favour, and our grateful thanks to you Captain Burry.

We of the most notorious Happy Gang are disposed to offer some kindly advice to the young fellows of the Haliburton area and beyond small game licence, and an $80 deer, bear, small game licence.

Issuers of hunting licences, which include owners of general or sporting goods stores and a few handicapped people, will also receive more for their services. Not all of the increase, therefore, will go into government coffers.

Over the past 12 months, the Ontario government has reviewed all of its "non-tax" sources of revenue. Fees that are charged by the province, such as hunting licence fees, service charges, royalties, and costs of items for sale have been reviewed in detail.

The objective is to raise additional revenue for increased costs of government services demanded by the public, rather than raising revenue by raising taxes.

Auld stated that it is difficult to estimate what effect these increases will have on purchases on hunting licences, and it is always difficult to estimate such purchases in any event (due to the possibility of inclement weather, changes in game populations, leisure time, etc.).

However, if everything goes as planned, and people react to these increases as they have in the past, revenue from this source is expected to rise from about $4.7 million to about $6.1 million, and then gradually increase through $6.8 in 1980-81, and $7.7 million in 1981-82, he said.

"We do recognize the difficulty persons on relatively fixed incomes may have with such changes. This was a prime consideration of the government in deciding upon the final fee structure."

Auld said that he is often asked whether hunting licence fees go directly into the wildlife management program. He pointed out that all revenue from this source goes into the consolidated

Students learn about environment

Four Environment Ontario summer students will be at Victoria Street Elementary School in Haliburton from Monday, June 11 to Wednesday, June 13 to conduct environmental studies with students.

The environmental studies will include the exploration of an aquatic habitat and the insect world.

This education program, now in its fourth year of operation was developed by the Ontario Ministry of the Environment. Its aim is to promote environmental awareness and appreciation of the outdoors among all ages of the public and stimulate active participation in improving and protecting our environment.

Two teams of university students will be visiting schools, parks and children's camps across the province this summer.

revenue fund along with revenues from most other government sources such as automobile licences, taxes, royalties, etc. This is the general pot that the Ontario government draws upon to support most of its program.

Monies from lotteries constitute an exception.

UCW executive meeting held

Monday, June 4, found some 30 members of the executive of Lindsay Presbyterians of United Church Women meeting at Haliburton United Church. The president, Mrs. Margaret Stewart, opened the meeting by having parts of the hymn "Unto the Hills" sung and parts read, then led in prayer.

In business arising from the minutes, groups were asked to save their Dominion Store tapes until July 1 and send to Cedar Glen at its Toronto office, 88 Eglinton Ave. E., M4P 1B8.

From the reports of Presbyterial officers we pass on the following: continue to remember the Bursary Fund (48 students were assisted in the past year); send any program suggestions to Carole Clark, c/o Cambridge St.

U.C.; books in the amount of $185.75 were sold at the three spring rallies; any church can request literature from Canec for perusal; helpers are needed for the Presbyterial booth at Lindsay Fair in September; save the code or computer markings from all containers and send to Joyce Bartley at Norland as they can be used for helping those with certain medical problems; the committee working on a resource centre is still looking for a suitable space.

Announcement was made of two schools for U.C.W. the weekend school at Camp Quin-Mo-Lac, September 7-9 and a mid-week one at Northminster U.C., Peterborough, September 18-20 under the theme, "Go quickly and tell" with the Rev. Bessie Lane of Lindsay as theme leader. Fall rallies are planned for Area 6 at Gooderham on September 12; Area 2 at Woodville on October 10 and Area 5 at Bobcaygeon on October 11. Watch for notice of a workshop in Lindsay in early September. U.C.W. representatives to Presbyterial were named.

Following the business session was a "Time Out" period. We became four groups, namely: teachers, musicians, actresses, preachers and with the assistance of a bag of props, each group made a 5 minute presentation which provided a completely unrehearsed, unprepared, unexpected program. The exercise proved amusing, educational, entertaining and inspirational. It was a fitting close to the business of the day.

The ceremony celebrates the Brownies graduation into the higher order of Guides. About 100 parents attended the occasion, which included a sing-song session among the Brownies and Guides.

Senior League

Our week began at Hyland Crest with fun and fitness first thing on Monday morning. We sang songs, played games and everyone managed to get a kick or two at the ball. Later on in the afternoon, the ladies enjoyed a couple of hours of knitting and working on their projects in the craft room. Time is drawing near for our bazaar, so everyone is working hard preparing for it. Tea and goodies were served and everyone enjoyed an afternoon of being useful.

Monday evening several residents went to the auditorium to view two movies. The first one called "The Land of Lakes" was very interesting indeed. We took a look at several lakes in Kenya. The movie showed the different types of vegetation and the inhabitants. There is a great abundance of fish and the lakes in Kenya have the richest variety of bird life anywhere in the world. There are pelicans and flamingo by the thousands. Fish and shrimp are exported by the ton. Everyone enjoyed the scenery and wildlife in particular shown in this film. The second movie was called "The Electronic Telephone". It told the history of the telephone from the beginning to the new discovery of silicone technology. We watched the assembly of today's electronic telephone, a new device which gives a better and more economical way to keep in touch. Tuesday morning we gathered in the Chapel for a Communion service with Rev. David Barker.

In the afternoon, several people turned out to play bingo in the main lounge.

On Wednesday, we had our regular exercising and games at fun and fitness. While the ladies again went to work in the craft room in the afternoon the gentlemen enjoyed a game of carpet bowling in the auditorium. After the game, the men joined the ladies for refreshments in the craft room. Several volunteers were here to lend a hand, and we do appreciate their help so much.

Thursday afternoon was a very enjoyable time when the United Church Women from Wilberforce brought a delicious variety of cake, cookies and muffins, for our weekly tea party.

In the evening the residents enjoyed a game of bingo in the lounge when the Kinsmen came to call the numbers.

Friday we were invited to Extendicare in Haliburton for a fashion show and lunch. We enjoyed a lovely assortment of fancy sandwiches and tarts. After lunch several residents of Extendicare modelled the clothes, which were on sale. Even though, we had a few showers, we had a very nice trip. Everyone enjoyed the day very much. We would like to thank Mrs. Burk for inviting us and everyone at Extendicare for the very warm welcome we received.

All in all it was a very busy and interesting week here at Hyland Crest.

Share a little good luck! That dainty chicken wishbone may have two or three attractive uses that you might enjoy trying. Clean off the bone and dry, collect a few, then cover with gold or silver paint. Tie with a think silk or velvet bow. What for? They make a cute birthday present decoration, an attractive Christmas tree ornament (sparkles can be glued on for added shimmer) or a birthday party favour for each child to make a wish besides the birthday child.

With the price of gift wrap nowadays, you can save yourself a lot of unnecessary expense by reusing gift wrap from large gifts. Cut away the taped ends and press with a warm iron. Bows and ribbons can be recycled indefinitely. Gently iron wrinkled ribbon with a warm setting. Store on an empty toilet paper roll, taping the ends to avoid unravelling.

Small gifts of soft clothing can be tucked into tubes from wax paper, gift wrap or liquor containers. These cylinders can be decorated to look like party crackers. They will keep the recipient guessing about the contents too!

who are seriously contemplating taking unto themselves a wife. If it will help, we would like to assure you, you cannot make a mistake. If you find you got a good wife you are a happier man, or if you find you got a bad wife you become a philosopher. This is our philosophical opinion.

This intended move of our Israeli embassy from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem seems to us to be the cleverest diplomatic red herring of all time. The Arabs know it and it hurts and of course so does Canada know it. It is all the more startling when it is the very first major foreign affairs pronouncement of our newly elected Conservative government. It will furnish the Arabs with a new pastime, especially when the herring is dragged around in diplomatic circles a few months. It may even divert the Arab's intent away from their miserable punitive current sanctions and boycotts. Let's hope that The Honourable Flora

MacDonald in parleying with the Arabs, is extra good at double talk.

On Friday, Extendicare or the Happy Gang staged a caper, the like of which is rare. Fashion Express Company of Scarborough drove up to our front and unloaded a big van full of ladies' dresses and accessories. Brought into our lounge they were displayed for sale to our ladies, the ladies of the staff and many visiting ladies from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. with a midway break of a delicious buffet style lunch with a greater variety than could have been found at the old Sunnyside Midway. Such sumptuousness could come about only through the kind volunteer efforts of Mrs. Velma Springer, Mrs. Pearl Sholer, Mrs. Rita McNeil, Mrs. Mary McKee, Miss Muriel Allport, Mrs. Marjorie Fedorchuk, Mrs. Norma Hodgson, and Mrs. Freda Stewart. It was a well worthwhile good time. Modelling these fashions were Mrs. Flossie Burk, Mrs. Christina McCrae, Mrs. Flora Walling, Mrs. Myrtle Millburn and Mary Currah.

Thank you to everyone who helped especially Mrs. Doris Robertson, activity director of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home, who, bringing 14 of her most talented vocalists, led them and us in a joyous sing-song at the peak of the party.

Norland Notebook

by Barbara Maunder

Last week a local cottage couple were most surprised and annoyed to find on entering their drive to the cottage that vandals had stolen the two large stone lions weighing approximately 150 pounds each, that had been gracing the entrance-way. The theft was reported to the O.P.P. and the police have asked your co-operation in watching for the pair of dark green cement lions that might turn up at a flea market or similar auction place. If you have any information pertaining to this matter, please call the O.P.P. at 454-3311. All information will be confidential.

On Tuesday, June 5, Burnt River, Cobocok, Kinnmount, Kirkfield and Norland public schools met in Kinnmount Fair Grounds for the northern schools annual track and field meet. Norland winners in the primary class were Sandra Robertson who placed third in the 50 and 100 metre races, Kelly Nicholls, first in standing jump and Lenny Greer, second in standing jump. Junior Darryl Landry was third in 400 metre race, second in long jump, and first in ball throw, and Tom Brohm second in ball throw. Beth Potter was first in high jump, 100 and 200 metre races and Cindy Halliday, second in high jump while Robbi Landry was third in 100 metre, second in 200 metre, and second in triple jump and Terry Bartley, first in long jump, third in triple jump, all in the intermediate division. Silver medal winner was Beth Potter and winners of bronze medals were Kelly Nicholls, Lenny Greer, Darryl Landry and Robbi Landry. Cobocok school, for the third year, won the overall school points and was awarded the Bexley Township council trophy for 1979-80. Our congratulations to all of the participants.

To benefit by a one percent discount on 1979 interim #1 and #2 township taxes, you must pay them by June 15, 1979.

Mr. A. T. Ludlow of Cobocok had his ticket picked in Bobcaygeon on Sunday, June 3 and won the wood burning stove (approximate value $550.00) donated by Lake-wood Stove Co., Bobcaygeon for fund raising for the Victoria County Spring Festival of the Arts. The committee wishes to thank everyone who purchased tickets and at a later date, when the proceeds are tallied, the amount from the draw will be published.

My apologies for leaving Lisa Kay's name from the list of Brownies who received a gold bar at the mother and daughter banquet held in Norland Community Hall on May 14.

Norland United Church Women will open their opportunity shop on Tuesday, June 26 from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. It is situated beside Norland Marine on the east side of highway 35 just south of Highway 503. Each Tuesday and Saturday from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. during July and August, the shop will be open and on Saturdays after Labour Day, until Thanksgiving, weather permitting. Nearly new clothing and good used articles for home and cottage will be for sale at very reasonable prices. Recycling is the name of the game!

Supporting "The Year of the child" theme, Natural Resources minister, James A. C. Auld has announced that children 15 years of age and under will be permitted free to all of Ontario's Provincial parks on Civic holiday, August 6. A colourful button with the caption "I'm For Parks" will be given to the children entering the provincial parks on August 6 and some parks will offer special children's day activities through the park visitor services program.

I would like to have the licence number of the inconsiderate person(s) who left a large green bag of garbage at our driveway on the Victoria holiday weekend. Fortunately, it was noticed and carried in before animals tore it apart and spread it all over the highway. It is hard to believe that some people could be so unfeeling and careless in their habits.

Hope everyone enjoyed the lovely warm weather over the weekend. Sure it was hot, but did the gardens and flowers ever start to grow. I have just checked the almanac; boy, do they ever hit the weather right on, so far anyway. Now that the full moon has arrived, maybe, just maybe, the rest of our gardens, such as tomato plants can be put in safely. I put some of mine in on Saturday, and they never even wilted. That is how much moisture we have in this ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson, and Bradley had a nice holiday at Niagara Falls. While in that area they also visited with their friends, Ed and Mary Walters.

Everyone enjoyed themselves at the Library-Museum dance at the community centre last Saturday evening. There was a good crowd present, just right for dancing on a warm night. There were prizes for spot dances, and Dr. and Mrs. Holliday-Rhodes won the door prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Courtney are home after enjoying a visit with their daughter in Switzerland.

Next week is Senior Citizens week, and the over 70 dinner will be held at Hyland Crest on Tuesday June 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood Cox are home after a holiday in Nevada.

The Women's Institute pot luck luncheon will be held at the United Church hall on Wednesday, June 20 at 12:30 noon. All interested ladies are invited to this picnic, but please bring your own cutlery and dishes, as well as food. This is so there will be no cleaning up after the meal, for who wants to wash dishes at a picnic?

Mr. Bill Carrell came home on the weekend from a fishing trip in the North West Territories.

The Leslie Coulter's of Kirkfield spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Angus Coulter. Mrs. Maud Coulter is visiting with her aunt, Mrs. Amy Milligan at Newtonville this week. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Stamp of Midland visited with friends and relatives in the village on the weekend.

Guild News

by Catherine Denholm

There was excitement in the not-quite-finished Rails End Station Gallery on Thursday evening when members and friends of the Guild of Fine Arts gathered to see Dixie Augustein's pictures of Japan and have the first look at this beautifully restored home for Haliburton Arts and Crafts.

Before the meeting opened they strolled along the board walk which used to be in the train platform. They wandered through the renovated baggage room now an almost-ready display gallery and glanced into the small office then found coffee and cookies where the station master once sold tickets to the clacking sound of Morse code.

Mrs. Augustein's pictures, which were shown in the "waiting room", were of her trip to Japan in 1978 when she was a delegate to the World Craft Conference. It was a fitting first event for this craft centre.

She showed the stores and streets of modern Tokyo and of the old and beautiful Kyoto. There were fields of rice, the famous bullet train, dolls, fans and shrines. She had detail of their intricate tapestry weaving, stencilling and dyeing of fabrics and she had brought samples of the finished products. Perhaps the best of all were her pictures of the very young people. The babies and toddlers on the streets and in the stores. She illustrated clearly to us that as she said, "The children of Japan are like dolls."

There was a large crowd in the gallery for this first evening. Such interest bodes well for the many events and programs of enrichment and pleasure which will take place in the months to come. There are great plans for July 14 when the Rails End Station Gallery will be officially opened.

Summer Theatre - Haliburton Highlands Secondary School
Sunday, July 1: "Alice in Wonderland" Theatre Aquarius.

Saturday, July 21: "Punchinello" Adult Puppet Show. Many short sketches celebrating the International Year of the Child.

Wednesday, August 1: "Hansel and Gretel", "Aladdin and his Magic Lamp", Papi Puppet Theatre.

Summer Exhibition
Opening night - Friday, July 6, 7:30 p.m. at the Senior Elementary School, Haliburton, featuring "Tracks", a special display of items handcrafted by local artisans, especially to commemorate the Railway Station and its history. All Haliburton County craftsmen are encouraged to create a piece of work on the railway theme for the "Tracks" display. For more information, please contact Mary Wallace, 286-2263. Pieces may be sold, but left in the show until closing.

You are cordially invited to attend the opening reception of the Rails End Station Gallery, Saturday, July 14, 2:30 p.m. at the Rails End Station Gallery, and afterwards at Sir Sam's Inn, Eagle Lake. Social hour - 6:30 p.m.; dinner, 7:30 p.m.; Guild choral society, 9:00 p.m. There is still limited space available for the dinner. Tickets are $10 per person, and cut-off date is July 7. Tickets are on sale in stores in Minden and Haliburton. Anyone who has tickets sold, please return them to Patti Smith.

We would like to extend a special thank you to those who are donating railway memorabilia, as well as monies and materials for construction on special furniture for the Station Gallery. We are still looking for a "Flat-to-the-wall" cupboard with glass doors.

Guild members are still busy re-finishing furniture. If you would like to help in this project, please call Carole Finn, 457-2404.

of the seven presbyteries of the Bay of Quinte Conference. "I sense a lot of crying concern in the presbyteries about their feelings of frustration that they are not achieving what they should be," comments Richard. He sees his own priorities as President of the Bay of Quinte Conference in helping the Conference staff and the officers of the seven presbyteries to enable the presbyteries to come to grips with the issues and tasks which face them in the coming year. The presbyteries are there to help to facilitate the real work of the church which is going on in the congregations," says Richard. "That is where the real focus is."

Stanhope Notes

A. F. Stevenson

Stanhope Township was featured on the late news over T.V. and radio last Thursday night when it was announced that the township was without fire protection due to the mass resignation of the members of the fire department, to show their disagreement with a council decision not to reappoint the fire chief. The facts as given to us indicate that the news announcement was not all true and that the media should check a little further before creating so much concern with only partially accurate reports. The following may help to clarify the situation up to the present.

(1) Reeve Jim Harrison called a special meeting of council and of members of the fire department for Thursday night for the purpose of explaining why the fire chief had not been re-appointed.

(2) After hearing the reeve's statement, the members then withdrew from the department and thus the township was suddenly without fire protection.

(3) The reeve, after a hasty discussion with council members, called on those firemen who had resigned several months ago and was assured of immediate co-operation to meet the emergency. The former firemen were soon contacting each other and in a short time began to arrive at the fire hall.

(4) By nine-thirty p.m. a crew of 14 experienced firemen and two inexperienced volunteers were available and the equipment was being checked out and arrangements were being made for a practice on Friday.

(5) Councillor Roger Woods was also busy due to his concern about having the phone-in fire alarm system manned. He approached two of the departing members with a request that they continue the use of the alarm phones installed in their homes with the result that they agreed to take the calls until such time as the phone company can transfer the units to a new location. Thanks to them, at least three phones will be in operation until all six are installed in new quarters.

(6) As a result of the quick action of the reeve and his supporters on council plus the excellent community spirit of the former firemen Stanhope was only briefly without fire protection, and the situation does not seem to have been nearly as bad as indicated by the eleven p.m. news reports.

The Stanhope airport committee dance on Saturday night was a real success and attended to capacity. Winner of the door prize was Tat Londry while the turkey was won by Shirley Harrison.

The airshow on Sunday was also enjoyed by a large crowd and in spite of the uncertain weather, which prevented the presence of a number of aircraft that had been expected, a very entertaining show was provided. Besides the airborne participants and the model aircraft demonstration by Bob Stevens, we thought the work of Tom Young on the public address system was excellent. He did a good job of providing some continuity when the weather created lulls in the activity.

The committee appreciate the cooperation of the Brownvale organization for providing overnight accommodation at Lochaven for the parachutists and to Helga Wolm for providing the meals for them. Joe Hughes, assisted by George Hamilton, operated the barbecue to everyone's satisfaction. The many volunteer workers were kept busy and also helped to make it an enjoyable day. A very nice touch was added to this year's flying show by providing a special area for senior citizens where they could enjoy the show as well as be assisted if they needed coffee, sandwiches, etc.

Carnarvon News by Blanche Windsor

We were fortunate in having the Couples Club, including their pastor and his wife, from High Park United Church, spend the weekend here. Saturday night they were catered to at a dinner in the C.E. building and were all at church Sunday morning and were going to PineStone for lunch. Among the group were Dr. and Mrs. H. Varty who, for years, have spent the summers here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Harrison's family rallied around on Saturday to help their parents move to their new abode. Mr. and Mrs. Ross Harrison entertained them all at lunch there. We hope Bert and Libbie will be happy there and they have a wonderful view of Twelve Mile.

The sympathy of the community goes out to Marilyn Stouffer in the death of her mother. Marilyn had just returned from Newfoundland when she received word of the death.

Mr. George Cowan of Brampton was up overnight to improve the grounds around his cottage. Myrtle is in Newfoundland visiting her daughter. A memorial window for the late Cliff Harrison is being installed by his family.

Fifteen members of the Barnhart family, including the girls' fiancés had dinner at the PineStone on Saturday night. This was to celebrate Lynn's and Sandra's engagements and several birthdays that occurred in May. Lynn and Sandra plan to be married next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Allcorn are spending a few days in Toronto. They were accompanied by Mary Allcorn, who has been here for several days.

Mrs. Lawrence Harrison celebrated her 87th birthday on Saturday and Mr. and Mrs. Samirillo of Toronto helped her celebrate. This is a good place to retire as so many are living to a ripe old age.

One of our flower lovers has a yellow lady-slipper in her garden with a dozen blooms.

By the way, this is Blanche Windsor helping Yvonne out for the summer months.

Phone in some news and we will have a chat at the same time.

We were in two different rooms, she in the place where the oil tank is, and the Christmas tree stands, and the paint pots, all with a little in them, and the old drum and cymbals set, and son Hugh's pots and pans and dishes, from the time he was batching, and a lot of interesting artifacts like that.

I was out in the main cellar, where we normally shovel a path from the bottom of the steps to the furnace, the washer and dryer. It was full of wet cardboard boxes, pieces of linoleum, ancient lamps without shades, ancient shades without lamps, milled purses and gunny sacks and jackets, warped curtain rods, ski poles without handles, skis with the harness missing, various pieces of torn plastic, great heaps of old sheets, kept for dusting rags, and similar fascinating items.

She hollers: "Bill, I think there's enough green here to touch up the woodwork."

I have just lifted an anonymous box full of dirt from when the furnace was cleaned out. The bottom has dropped out, and I am contemplating a one-foot mound of furnace excrement on the floor.

Me: "That's great. Shove it - uh - that's fine, dear."

She, appearing round the door: "You're not going to throw out that perfectly good chunk of linoleum! We might need it to patch the kitchen floor!"

Me, sotto voce: "Why don't you make a bikini out of it, you great seamstress, you?"

Me, alarmed: "Hey, you're not going to throw out that gunny sack? I had that in Normandy in '44!"

She: "It has a hole in it and stinks of mould. And what about these old medals?" Old medals, my foot, they are precious. They are not exactly the V.C. and the D.S.O. As a matter of fact, one is for joining up, another for getting across the ocean without being sunk, a third for staying alive on wartime rations, known as the Spam medal, and the fourth for getting home alive. But the grand-boys like to play with them.

And on it goes. We fight over every item, for sentimental or practical reasons. I hate to see a perfectly good breadbox go out, even though it has no handle and doesn't match the kitchen. She gets upset when I want to discard the third-last vacuum cleaner we had, because it has the propensity of being a great spray-painting weapon for painting fences, if we had a fence and she could find a bottle exactly the size of the one that is missing.

Like marriage in general, we give a little here, take a little there, and both wind up furious and exhausted.

When it was all over, there wasn't much left but a bagful of mouldy, green love letters, 30 years old.

She doesn't know it, but I'm going to get up at five on Thursday morning, sneak them out, and bury them among the junk. I simply couldn't stand hearing what a chump I was in those days.

Trent Severn News

Open House
To celebrate Peterborough Development Week, the Waterway will be holding an open house at the lock gate plant and machine shops of the Peterborough office. The time and date: Wednesday, June 13, between 6:30 and 9:00 p.m.

Slide shows on the waterway and on the national parks in Ontario will be featured, as well as demonstrations on lock gate fabrication, and canal maintenance. Ample parking is available, so do plan to attend. The Waterway plant is located on Ashburnham Drive, next to the Maria Street Bridge in Peterborough.

Water Control
Through the week ending June 8, 1979 the flow of the Otonabee River was reduced from 92.5 to 31.3 cubic metres per second. Kawartha Lakes remain within or a little above their navigation ranges.

Drier weather was affecting reservoir lakes as well until the rains began Thursday night, June 7. Storage, however, was still just less than 100 percent of maximum due to flow reduction at Haliburton dams.

The reservoir storage-depletion graph for this year has followed that for 1978 quite closely the past three weeks.

Lake Simcoe-Couchiching outflow was reduced this week as the level had receded to its curve level for early summer. The normal curve remains at the same level until June 24 when the decline begins.

Flows down the Severn River have dropped to 45.3 cubic metres per second at the Swift Rapids.
